

PROGRAM – ADDENDUM

77th Northwest Anthropological Conference
March 6-9, 2024

The conference and planning committees recognize the importance of presenting a thorough and concise program. To that end, any changes to the program schedule – beyond what was already published – is summarized here.

We thank everyone involved for their effortful coordination, patience, understanding, and flexibility in finalizing all aspects of the 77th Northwest Anthropological Conference. We extend ample gratitude to any and all program presenters as well as all NWAC attendees; this would not be possible without your support.

General Formatting

- You may recognize some minor visual adjustments to formatting when comparing the digital and paper copies. This is due to changes in line items from various corrections.

Name Corrections: The committee recognizes the importance of accuracy in spelling and formatting of names. To that end, known/reported errors have been corrected on pages: 39, 54, 73, 81, 94, and 103 of the program.

Institutional Corrections: In addition to naming conventions, the committee takes the accuracy of institutional representation seriously. Known/reported errors have been corrected below:

- Jones, Averi, M.A., CNP, Department of Anthropology, University of Montana (Page 93 of the program)

Accuracy in Presentation Type: Any instance where Saturday's 2024 Transportation Symposium was referred to as a "Session" has been corrected to a "Symposium".

Representation and Participation: Accurate records of program participants across all conference events is paramount to the committee. The following has been corrected to include all participants in any given event:

- At Home in the Valley – Chinese Families at 35MA417
Bialas, Catherin, M.A. (Historical Research Associates, Inc.), Janna Tuck (Historical Research Associates, Inc.), and Jessica Curteman (Oregon Department of Transportation)
 - Originally associated with General Session: Historic Archaeology, Collections in error.
 - Corrected to represent the 2024: Transportation Symposium. Changes reflected on pages 29, 52, 53, and 62 of the program.
- Symposium: In His Footsteps: Tom Connolly's Legacy in Oregon Archaeology
 - Originally did not list discussants during the symposium
 - Corrected to include discussants: Mark Tveskov and Tom Connolly. Change reflected on page 40 of the program.
- Volcanic Glass Source Diversity and GIS Stratigraphical Modeling to Identify Intra-Site Cultural Transmission in the Grissom Site (45KT301), Kittitas County, WA
Nikolai Simurdak, B.S. (Cultural and Environmental Resource Management, Central Washington University) and Patrick T. McCutcheon, Ph.D. (Central Washington University)
 - Originally did not list second author (Patrick T. McCutcheon Ph.D.) during the General Session: Methods in Archaeology
 - Corrected to include both authors: Nikolai Simurdak, B.S. and Patrick T. McCutcheon, Ph.D. Change reflected on page 55 of the program.
- Bridging the Gap between the Academic and Professional World
Larissa Rudnicki, Oregon Department of Transportation
 - Originally did not list presentation during the 2024 Transportation Symposium
 - Corrected to include discussion during the Saturday symposium at 11:10 AM and included their paper in the list of abstracts. Changes reflected on pages 52, 53, and 113 of the program.
- The University of Idaho Department of Anthropology – will have an additional table in the Book Room during the conference. This is in addition to the University of Idaho, Asian American Comparative Collection that is in the same space. Change reflected on page 19 of the program.

Presentation Withdrawal(s): The committee aims to present a program that most accurately represents our known presenters and if there are changes ahead of the conference. Below, we have listed the known presenters or events that are no longer a part of the program:

- Saturday, March 9th (1:00-4:00 pm) General Session: Methods in Archaeology (Multnomah Falls Room)
 - 2:00 pm: Archaeochemistry - from Mustard Powder to Gun Powder by Melia LaFleur and Ray von Wandruszka (Department of Chemistry, University of Idaho – no longer presenting at this General Session.)
 - General Session schedule has been updated to reflect this change on Pages: 55 and 97 of the program.

Location and/or Room Changes: In an effort to minimize wayfinding discrepancies, the committee is determined to inform participants of known room changes ahead of the conference dates. Below, we have listed the known changes to events that are still occurring, but are being conducted in a different place:

- Friday, March 8th (5:00-6:00 pm) Association of Oregon Archaeologists General Meeting
 - Original Location: Pacific Coast Meeting Rooms
 - New Location: Crater Lake Room

- Corrected on pages: 16, 37, and 50 of the program.
